Other Information

Dedicated Internet Service for Ace VoIP Hosted PBX

In order to ensure the quality of VoIP we recommend a dedicated Internet service for your call traffic. This will help to ensure that basic Internet activity such as web browsing and the downloading of emails do not affect the quality of your phone calls.

000 Emergency Dialling

Due to possible technical issues beyond our control, Ace VoIP is not always guaranteed to provide access to 000 emergency services. We do not recommend that you use Ace VoIP as your sole telephone service/system. For your protection, please ensure you always have an alternative means of dialling the 000 emergency services. If you intend to use a mobile telephone to dial 000 emergency services please read 'Calling the Emergency Call Service from a Mobile Phone: Frequently Asked Questions' from ACMA available online at www.acma.gov.au/theACMA/calling-the-emergency-call-service-from-a-mobile-phone--faqs. In the event that you dial an emergency service number from the service, the service address provided by you to Ace Communications will be displayed to the emergency services operator. It is your responsibility to notify Ace Communications of any changes to your service address details.

Billing

Your bill will be issued in the first week of each calendar month. Customers paying by direct debit from a credit card or from a bank account will be debited on the 10th of each month (or the next business day). Customers paying by invoice have 14 days to pay from the date of invoice.
